About the book

This book is devoted to the study of the Europeanization of Spanish administrative law and its scope results, therefore, from the intersection of two basic notions.

On the one hand, Europeanization is here understood as a top-down process of innovation suffered by national law as an outcome of the structural principles which govern the relations between European and national systems.

On the other hand, the book focuses on some of the most important institutions of Spanish general administrative law in order to give a wide and comprehensive insight into the transformations of the system, going thus beyond the description of the transformations experienced by the regulation of concrete sectors of administrative action.

Specifically, regulation of administrative procedure, case law on the right to good administration, public procurement law, public services regulation, interim measures in judicial review and the evolution of administrative sanctions are the main topics with which the book deals.

European Administrative Law Series

The newly established European Administrative Law Series hosts academic publications related to the development of European administrative law. The series aims to cover all aspects of European administrative law, reflecting the role of the European Union, the role of domestic legal orders and their mutual relation and influence.
